

The danger of a single story – Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie

www.ted.com/talks/chimamanda adichie the danger of a single story.html

What do we make of this clip?
How might we respond to its challenges as learners?
... As educators?
What stories do we tell about the world? About others? About ourselves?
Can we identify words for the different sorts of ways in which people construct their stories about the world? [eg postcolonial, liberal etc?]	